

Dear Max Mustermann,

Things have been quieter at AMPO over the past few weeks on account of the summer break. So this time we will only report on the activities at MIA/ALMA, our refuge for young women. Soon everything will be back to normal again and the AMPO year will start again in full swing. Katrin Rohde was in Ouagadougou in July and August and reported on the extension to the Clinic which is more necessary than ever, due to the large number of displaced persons in the capital.

We are hoping to see the facilities for ourselves once more and we're planning a visit to Burkina Faso at the end of October. It has been a while since our last visit and we have had to postpone the trip several times because of Covid-19 or on account of the political situation. We really hope it will come off this time and we will be able to visit the children, the trainees and our colleagues on site. Apart from that our autumn diary is full of great events. It is worth keeping an eye on the dates in the Newsletter or on our website.

Hoping you find a quiet moment to read, your AMPO International team.

Chairs and tables from the Pang La Wende workshop have arrived in Berlin

This month we received two deliveries of new chairs and tables made in our Pang La Wende wheelchair workshop. These are unique designs which have been assembled with love from spare parts and transformed into something completely new. They are currently on display for sale at our office in Berlin. We are looking forward to further deliveries in the coming weeks.

Monthly diary

A campaign took place this month at the MIA-ALMA refuge, when the women got down to weeding the small plot of land at the facility and planting maize. This gives the women an opportunity to learn something about farming and gives them skills to till the soil and plant their own crops.

AMPO International e.V. say goodbye to Sophie Hoydem

This month was also time to say goodbye to our colleague, Sophie Hoydem. For the past two and a half years Sophie has been doing a great job for the Association and she has now decided to branch out into other areas of development work. We are very grateful for the commitment she showed in her work for the Association and for her support of the facilities in Ouagadougou. She was always able to see the various areas of our work with a new perspective. She also helped us to embark on the new territory of social media. We wish Sophie all the best for her future career.
